Motivator

In recent years, the Army's concern for the environment has increased. Both the Army and the public have increased their emphasis on environmental stewardship. General Dennis Reimer, former Chief of Staff of the Army, made the Army's commitment to our nation's environmental policy quite clear when he said the following.

Everyone must protect and conserve the natural environment as an individual responsibility. Seemingly minor infractions by individuals, particularly in cumulative effect, can have major effects on human health and natural habitat--or upon operating budgets. Leaders must set the example as well as to strictly enforce environmental policy and regulations. Environmental responsibility involves all of us. The environmental ethic must be part of how we live and how we train. As a team leader you have the inherent personal and professional responsibility to know, understand, and support the Army's environmental program.

Terminal Learning Objective

NOTE: Inform the students of the following Terminal Learning Objective requirements. At the completion of this lesson, you [the student] will:

Action:	Demonstrate awareness of the U.S. Army's environmental program.
Conditions:	Given all applicable references and in a classroom environment.
Standards:	Demonstrated awareness and understanding of the U.S. Army environmental program IAW FM 3-100.4.

Safety Requirements

None

Risk Assessment Level

Low

Environmental Considerations

NOTE: It is the responsibility of all soldiers and DA civilians to protect the environment from damage.

None

Evaluation

You will take a written examination. The examination will contain questions from this lesson. You must correctly answer at least 70 percent of the questions on the examination to receive a GO.

NOTE: Inform the students when their examination will take place as posted on the training schedule; tell them when they will receive feedback on the tests. Include any retest information.

Instructional Lead-In*SHOW VGT-1, ARMY ENVIRONMENTAL MISSION STATEMENT

Ref: SH-2 (FM 3-100.4), p SH-2-5, para 1-23

NOTE: Read VGT-1 to the students.

This lesson will provide you, a warrior leader, with an awareness of your responsibilities concerning environmental laws, regulations, policies, and procedures associated with the Army's environmental program. The Army's environmental mission statement communicates its commitment to environment. By including the environment in your planning phase, it allows you to exercise the warrior ethos of maintaining not only your self equipment, and army, but also the environment.
